

Somebody's Fool

(Copyright 2019 R. Hunter/Turtle Hill Productions, all rights reserved)

A guy I know sat next to me in an imaginary bar last night, and this is what he told me

Hey man,

Give me a whisky and a cigarette

I'll tell you a story you won't forget

Tell you 'bout the woman who changed my life

The one that made a fool out of me last night

Listen mister this is the truth

It's not pretty it's not cool

If you won't see what's right before your eyes

You're somebody's fool

I fell head over heels

First time I held her hand

You know that love is blind

But I thought love was grand

Seemed to me I was havin a ball while she ran me around

Showin me the goods at

Every jewelery store in town

Listen mister this is the truth
It's not pretty it's not cool
When your money's flying away like it had wings
You're somebody's fool

I shoulda seen the signs
I shoulda heard a sound
But I never had a inkling
About what was going down
She never once complained she never carried on, but early this AM my copper cadillac was gone

Listen mister this is the truth
It's not pretty it's not cool
When you turn into the thing you despise
You're somebody's fool

To be continued...

He said...

Man and woman protect yourself
Don't put your blind faith in anyone else
Don't look away from what you don't want to see

Or you'll wind up in this bar sitting right here next to me

Listen people this is the truth

It's not pretty it's not cool

And you can drink all night with me if that helps you forget

You're somebody's fool

